Kojo Menjah, Joshua Abor : Finance and Development in Africa: 12B (Research in Accounting in Emerging Economies) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Finance and Development in Africa: 12B (Research in Accounting in Emerging Economies):

The objective of Research in Accounting in Emerging Economies is to raise the level of interest in the specific problems of accounting in emerging economies; and increase awareness of real issues, so that accounting in these countries will not just be seen as a matter of copying what is done in the industrialized countries. RAEE is intended to provide an authoritative overview of accounting research and progress in emerging economies.

Authors of the eight papers in this collection examine the roles of banks, the stock market, foreign direct investment, and financial management as they relate to the development of African countries. Some topics include: banking sector efficiency, competitive behavior in the emerging African market, Nigerian banking consolidation and market structure, and the application of a capital asset pricing model to individual securities on the Ghana stock exchange. Editors are Menyah (London Metropolitan U., UK) and Abor (U. of Ghana Business School, Ghana). Distributed in North America by Turpin Distribution. --Book News Inc. Portland, OR
